PREFATORY NOTE

This is the fifth "List of American Learned Journals" to be published in the Bulletins of the American Council of Learned Societies. The first (in Bulletin 4, June, 1925), the second (in Bulletin 8, October, 1928), and the third (Bulletin 21, March, 1934) were all prepared by Leo F. Stock. The fourth (issued as Bulletin 30, May, 1940) was compiled by D. H. Daugherty.

The present list has included new journals that have come into being during the war years, and are thought to be appropriate for inclusion within the disciplines represented. Twenty-nine journals previously included have been omitted. Fifty-one journals not previously included have been added. These are given on pages 69 and 70.

Every attempt has been made to assure correct information regarding each journal. A direct request was made to the editor or publisher, and revisions made are based on the information submitted. This is believed to be correct as of July 1, 1945.

A standard form has been maintained as to all journals listed as far as it has been possible and consistent to do so. This is as follows:

Item 1) Title of the journal, followed by the year and month, when ascertainable, of the publication of Volume One, Number One. Unless otherwise indicated, if the journal has changed its title, or been continued in more than one series, the date of its founding is given as of the original title or the first series.

Item 2) Nature of the journal's interests and contents, and the approximate number of pages each issue.

Item 3) Dates of publication, and the subscription rates.

Item 4) Present editor or managing editor.

Item 5) Subscription address.

Item 6) Place of publication.

AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

Organized, 1919. Incorporated, 1924.

Composed of two delegates from each of twenty-four national learned organizations devoted to humanistic and social studies.

Aims:

(1) To advance the interests of the humanistic sciences in America, especially by encouraging, initiating, and promoting research in those studies, and by maintaining and strengthening the relations between the national societies devoted to them.

(2) Through its membership in the International Union of Academies (UAI) to serve as an agency for the conduct of continued relations between its constituent societies and other American organizations of scholars, on the one hand, and academies and analogous bodies in foreign countries, on the other.

THE BULLETIN

The Bulletin contains, in addition to the proceedings of the ACLS and the UAI, and reports of their committees, other material and information of interest to scholars and institutions devoted to humanistic studies.

Edited in the Executive Offices of the Council. Published irregularly. Prices: 5 numbers for $1.00; $.25 single copies. The following numbers are now out of print: Nos. 3, 4, 5, 8, 12, 17, 19, 21, 24, 29, and 33.

Special Numbers available: No. 10, April, 1929 (Promotion of Chinese Studies); No. 16, May, 1931 (Publication by Learned Societies); No. 28, May, 1939 (Indic Studies in America); No. 30, May, 1940 (American Learned Journals); No. 32, September, 1941 (Conference on Negro Studies); No. 34, March, 1942 (Conference on Non-English Speech in the United States).
